

Policy and Procedure

Public Interest Disclosure (PID)

Version: 2025.1 | Version effective date: 12/05/2025

Supersedes: Public Interest Disclosure Policy and Procedure (version 2022.1)

Scope

This policy and procedure applies to all workplace participants including employees, volunteers, contractors and consultants. For the purpose of the Public Interest Disclosure Act 2010 (PID Act), contractors, consultants and volunteers are generally not considered employees. The policy and procedure also apply to any person who is able to make a PID under the PID Act.

Purpose

This policy and procedure assists the Queensland Public Trustee (QPT) to meet its obligations in complying with the Public Interest Disclosure Act 2010 (PID Act). By complying with the PID Act, the QPT will:

- promote the public interest by facilitating public interest disclosures (PIDs) of wrongdoing.
- ensure that PIDs are properly assessed and, where appropriate, properly investigated and dealt with.
- ensure appropriate consideration is given to the interests of persons who are the subject of a PID.
- ensure protection from reprisal is afforded to persons making PIDs.

As required under the PID Act, The Public Trustee of Queensland (as chief executive of the QPT) will implement procedures to ensure that:

- any public officer who makes a PID is given appropriate support
- PIDs made to the QPT are properly assessed and, where appropriate, properly investigated and dealt with.
- appropriate action is taken in relation to any wrongdoing which is the subject of a PID.
- a management program for PIDs made to the QPT, consistent with the Standards issued by the Queensland Ombudsman, is developed and implemented.
- public officers who make PIDs are offered protection from reprisal by the QPT or other public officers of the QPT.

Policy statement

The QPT is committed to fostering an ethical, transparent culture. In pursuit of this, we value the disclosure of information about suspected wrongdoing in the public sector so that it can be properly assessed and, if necessary, appropriately investigated. The QPT will provide support to an employee or others who make disclosures about matters in the public interest.

Public Interest Disclosure Policy and Procedure

This policy and procedure demonstrates our commitment and ensures that practical and effective processes are implemented which comply with the requirements of the PID Act. A copy is available for public viewing at www.pt.qld.gov.au

Principles

PID Management Program

The Public Trustee of Queensland, as chief executive officer of the QPT, has overall responsibility for ensuring that the QPT develops, implements and maintains a PID management program. The program is managed by the Director, Independent Services and the Customer Advocate and any officer of the Independent Services Unit acting under the Director's instruction and guidance as the QPT's PID Coordinator.

The QPT PID management program encompasses:

- commitment to encouraging the internal reporting of wrongdoing.
- senior management endorsement of the value to the QPT of PIDs and the proper management of PIDs.
- a communication strategy to raise awareness among employees about PIDs and the QPT's PID procedure.
- a training strategy to give employees access to training about how to make a PID, information on the support available to a discloser, and advice on how PIDs will be managed.
- specialist training and awareness about PIDs for senior management and other staff who may receive or manage PIDs, disclosers or workplace issues relating to PIDs.
- the appointment of a specialist officer to be responsible for issues related to the management of PIDs (the PID Coordinator for the QPT is the Director, Independent Services and the Customer Advocate and any officer of the Independent Services Unit acting under the Director's instruction and guidance as the QPT's PID Coordinator).
- ensuring effective systems and procedures are in place so that issues and outcomes from PIDs inform improvements to service delivery, business processes and internal control.
- regular review of this document and evaluation of the effectiveness of the PID management program.

Why make a PID?

Employees who are prepared to speak up about public sector misconduct, wastage of public funds, suspected unlawful activity or danger to health, safety or the environment can be the most important sources of information to identify and address problems in public sector administration.

The QPT supports the disclosure of information about wrongdoing because:

- implementing systems for reporting and dealing with wrongdoing contributes to the integrity of the QPT.
- the outcomes of PIDs can include improvements to systems that prevent fraud and other economic loss to the QPT.

Public Interest Disclosure Policy and Procedure

- the community's trust in public administration is strengthened by having strong processes in place for reporting wrongdoing.

When making a PID, the discloser receives the protections provided under the PID Act, including:

- confidentiality – the discloser's name and other identifying information will be protected to the extent possible.
- protection against reprisal – the discloser is protected from unfair treatment by the QPT and employees of the QPT as a result of making the PID.
- immunity from liability – the discloser cannot be prosecuted for disclosing the information but is not exempt from action if they have engaged in wrongdoing.
- protection from defamation – the discloser has a defence against an accusation of defamation by any subject officer.

What is a PID?

Under the PID Act, any person can make a disclosure about a:

- substantial and specific danger to the health or safety of a person with a disability
- the commission of an offence, or contravention of a condition imposed under a provision of legislation mentioned in Schedule 2 of the PID Act, if the offence or contravention would be a substantial and specific danger to the environment
- reprisal because of a belief that a person has made, or intends to make a disclosure.

In addition, public sector officers can make a disclosure about the following public interest matters:

- corrupt conduct
- maladministration that adversely affects a person's interests in a substantial and specific way.
- a substantial misuse of public resources.
- a substantial and specific danger to public health or safety.
- substantial and specific danger to the environment.

A discloser can have either a 'reasonable belief' that wrongdoing has occurred or provide evidence which tends to show the wrongdoing has occurred.

A disclosure amounts to a PID and is covered by the PID Act even if the:

- discloser reports the information as part of their duties – such as an auditor reporting a fraud or an occupational health and safety officer reporting a safety breach.
- disclosure is made anonymously – the discloser is not required to give their name or any identifying information.
- discloser has not identified the material as a PID – it is up to the QPT to assess information received and decide if it is a PID.

Public Interest Disclosure Policy and Procedure

- disclosure is unsubstantiated following investigation – the discloser is protected when the information they provide is assessed as a PID, whether or not it is subsequently investigated or found to be substantiated.

Who can a PID be disclosed to?

A PID must be made to the 'proper authority' to receive disclosures of the type being made. Disclosers are encouraged to make a disclosure to an appropriate officer of the QPT first. If the matter is not resolved, or the discloser is concerned about confidentiality, the disclosure may be made to another appropriate agency.

Who to contact within the QPT:	Other agencies that can receive PIDs:
Any person (including employees) can make a disclosure to: • any person in a supervisory or management position • People and Culture • The Public Trustee of Queensland and CEO • the Director, Independent Services and the Customer Advocate.	Disclosures can be made to an agency that has a responsibility for investigating the information disclosed: • Crime and Corruption Commission (CCC) for disclosures about corrupt conduct including reprisal • Queensland Ombudsman for disclosures about maladministration • Queensland Audit Office for disclosures about a substantial misuse of resources • Department of Families, Seniors, Disability Services and Child Safety for disclosures about danger to the health and safety of a child or any person with a disability • Office of the Public Guardian for disclosures about danger to the health and safety of a person with a disability • Department of Environment, Tourism, Science and Innovation for disclosures about danger to the environment • A Member of the Legislative Assembly (MP) for any wrongdoing or danger • The Chief Judicial Officer of a court or tribunal in relation to a disclosure about wrongdoing by a judicial officer.

A disclosure can also be made to a journalist if the following conditions have been met:

- a valid PID was initially made to a proper authority, and
- the proper authority:
 - decided not to investigate or deal with the disclosure; or

Public Interest Disclosure Policy and Procedure

- investigated the disclosure but did not recommend taking any action; or
- failed to notify the discloser within six months of making the disclosure whether or not the disclosure was to be investigated or otherwise dealt with.

A person who makes a disclosure to a journalist in these circumstances is protected under the PID Act. However, disclosers should be aware that journalists are not bound under the confidentiality provisions of section 65 of the PID Act.

How to make a PID

A discloser can make a PID in any way, including anonymously, either verbally or in writing. To assist in the assessment, and any subsequent investigation of a PID, disclosers are requested to provide:

- contact details (this could be an email address that is created for the purpose of making the disclosure, or a telephone number)
- as much information as possible about the suspected wrongdoing, including:
 - who was involved?
 - what happened
 - when it happened
 - where it happened
 - whether there were any witnesses, and if so, who they are
 - any evidence that supports the PID, and where the evidence is located
 - any further information that could help investigate the PID
- information in writing.

Deciding whether a matter is a PID

If there is any doubt as to whether a matter is a PID, further information may be obtained to inform the decision. If doubt still remains, the matter will be considered and managed as a PID. Mere disagreements over policy do not meet the threshold for a PID under the PID Act.

It is an offence under the PID Act to intentionally give false or misleading information intending it be acted on as a PID. Employees may be subject to disciplinary action for intentionally giving false or misleading information in a PID, or during an investigation into a PID.

Where a discloser states they are making a PID, but it is assessed that the matter is not a PID the QPT will advise the discloser:

- that their information has been received but was not assessed as a PID
- the reasons for the decision
- the review rights available if the discloser is dissatisfied with the decision and how to request review
- any action the QPT proposes to take in relation to the matter
- any other options the discloser has in relation to the matter.

Public Interest Disclosure Policy and Procedure

Assessing a PID

All disclosures will be assessed in accordance with the PID Act, the PID Standards, this policy and procedure, and any other relevant policies and procedures.

Once the matter has been assessed as a PID, the QPT will advise the discloser:

- that their information has been received and assessed as a PID
- the action to be taken by the QPT in relation to the disclosure, which could include referring the matter to an external agency, or investigating
- the likely timeframe involved
- the name and contact details of the QPT support officer they can contact for updates or advice
- of the discloser's obligations regarding confidentiality
- the protections the discloser has under the PID Act
- the commitment of the QPT to keep appropriate records and maintain confidentiality, except where permitted under the PID Act
- how updates regarding intended actions and outcomes will be provided to the discloser
- contact details for the QPT's Employee Assistance Program

If the PID has been made anonymously and the discloser has not provided any contact details, the QPT will not be able to acknowledge the PID or provide any updates.

Referring a PID

If the QPT decides there is another proper authority that is better able to deal with the PID, the PID may be referred to that agency. This may be because:

- the PID concerns wrongdoing by that agency or an employee of that agency; and
- the agency has the power to investigate or remedy the matter.

Before referring the PID to another agency, the QPT will conduct a risk assessment, and will not proceed with the referral if there is an unacceptable risk of reprisal.

It may also be necessary to refer the PID to another agency because of a legislative obligation. For example, a matter may be referred to the Crime and Corruption Commission where there is a reasonable suspicion that it involves or may involve corrupt conduct (as required by section 38 of the Crime and Corruption Act 2001).

The confidentiality obligations of the PID Act permit appropriate officers of the PT to communicate with another agency about the referral of a PID. Officers will exercise discretion in their contacts with any other agency.

The discloser will be advised of the action taken by the QPT.

Public Interest Disclosure Policy and Procedure

Risk assessment and protection from reprisal

Disclosers should not suffer any form of detriment as a result of making a PID. Upon receiving a PID, the QPT will conduct a risk assessment to assess the likelihood of the discloser (or witnesses or affected third parties) suffering reprisal action as a result of having made the disclosure. This assessment will take into account the actual and reasonably perceived risk of the discloser (or witnesses or affected third parties) suffering detriment and will include consultation with the discloser.

If the discloser is anonymous, a risk assessment will be undertaken using information available in the PID. The risk assessment will also take into account the risk to persons who may be suspected of making the PID.

Consistent with the assessed level of risk, the QPT will develop and implement a risk management plan and arrange any reasonably necessary support or protection for the discloser (or witnesses or affected third parties).

The QPT will regularly reassess the risk of reprisal while the PID is being managed, in consultation with the discloser, and review the risk management plan if required.

In the event of reprisal action being alleged or suspected, the QPT will:

- attend to the safety of the discloser (or witnesses or affected third parties) as a matter of priority
- review its risk assessment, risk management plan and any protective measures needed to mitigate any further risk of reprisal
- manage any allegation of a reprisal as a PID in its own right.

Declining to take action on a PID

Under the PID Act, the QPT may decide not to investigate or deal with a PID in various circumstances, including:

- the information disclosed has already been investigated or dealt with by another process;
- the information disclosed should be dealt with by another process;
- the age of the information makes it impractical to investigate;
- the information disclosed is too trivial and dealing with it would substantially and unreasonably divert the QPT from the performance of its functions; and
- another agency with jurisdiction to investigate the information has informed the QPT that an investigation is not warranted.

If a decision is made not to investigate or deal with a PID, the QPT will give the discloser written reasons for that decision and advise them of their review options. If the discloser is dissatisfied with the decision, they can request a review by writing to The Public Trustee of Queensland and CEO within 28 days of receiving the written reasons for decision.

Public Interest Disclosure Policy and Procedure

Communication with disclosers

Under the PID Act, the QPT must give reasonable information to a discloser. The QPT will acknowledge receipt of the PID in writing as soon as practicable. The discloser will be provided with information that meets the requirements of the PID Act and the standards issued by the Queensland Ombudsman, including:

- the action that will be taken in response to the PID
- the protections under the PID Act
- confidentiality obligations of the discloser and the QPT
- support arrangements.

The QPT will maintain contact with the discloser and provide regular updates during the management of the PID. In accordance with the PID Act, after finalising action in response to the PID, the QPT will advise the discloser in writing of the action taken and the results of the action.

Confidentiality

While the QPT will make every attempt to protect confidentiality, a discloser's identity may need to be disclosed to provide natural justice to subject officers or respond to a court order, legal directive or court proceedings.

The QPT will ensure that communication with all parties involved will be arranged discreetly to avoid identifying the discloser wherever possible. Disclosers should be aware that while the QPT will make every attempt to keep their details confidential, it cannot guarantee that others will not try to deduce their identity.

Support for disclosers

The QPT recognises that providing appropriate support to a discloser is an important feature of effective PID management. An assessment will be undertaken to identify the support needs of the discloser. Where appropriate, a PID Support Officer will be assigned to the discloser. The PID Support Officer will assist the discloser to access information about PIDs, protections available under the PID Act and the PID management process. The PID Support Officer will proactively contact the discloser to offer support.

Information and support will be provided to the discloser until the matter is finalised.

Making a PID does not prevent reasonable management action. That means that the discloser will be continue to be managed in accordance with normal, fair and reasonable management practices during and after the handling of the PID.

Investigating a PID

If a decision is made to investigate a PID, this will be done with consideration of the:

- principles of natural justice
- obligation under the PID Act to protect confidential information
- obligation under the PID Act to protect officers from reprisal
- interests of subject officers.

Public Interest Disclosure Policy and Procedure

If, as a result of investigation, the information about wrongdoing provided in the PID is substantiated, appropriate action will be taken. Where the investigation does not substantiate wrongdoing, the QPT will review systems, policies and procedures to identify whether there are improvements that can be made and consider if staff training is required.

Rights of subject officers

The QPT acknowledges that for officers who are the subject of a PID the experience may be stressful. The QPT will protect their rights by:

- assuring them that the PID will be dealt with impartially, fairly and reasonably in accordance with the principles of natural justice
- confirming that the PID is an allegation only until information or evidence obtained through an investigation substantiates the allegation
- providing them with information about their rights and the progress and outcome of any investigation
- referring them to the Employee Assistance Program for support.

Information and support will be provided to subject officer until the matter is finalised.

Recordkeeping requirements

In accordance with its obligations under section 29 of the PID Act, and the Public Records Act 2002, the QPT will ensure that:

- accurate data is collected about the receipt and management of PIDs.
- anonymised data is reported to the Office of the Queensland Ombudsman in its role as the oversight agency, through the PID reporting database.

Records about disclosures, investigations and related decisions will be kept secure and accessible only to appropriately authorised people involved in the management of the PID.

Policy controls and managing non-compliance

Compliance with this policy is mandatory for all staff. Managers must ensure the Policy is embedded into practice within their teams, and staff are required to report any instances of non-compliance immediately through their manager to the Policy Owner or Policy Delegate listed in this document.

Definitions

Term	Definition
Administrative Action	Means any action about a matter of administration, including, for example: (i) a decision and an act; and (ii) a failure to make a decision or do an act, including a failure to provide a written statement of reasons for a decision; and (iii) the formulation of a proposal or intention; and (iv) the making of a recommendation, including a recommendation made to a Minister; and (v) an action taken because of a recommendation made to a Minister. It does not include an operational action of a police officer or of an officer of the Crime and Corruption Commission.
Confidential Information	Includes — (i) information about the identity, occupation, residential or work address or whereabouts of a person — A. who makes a public interest disclosure; or B. against whom a public interest disclosure has been made; and (ii) information disclosed by a public interest disclosure; and (iii) information about an individual's personal affairs; and (iv) information that, if disclosed, may cause detriment to a person. It does not include information publicly disclosed in a public interest disclosure made to a court, tribunal or other entity that may receive evidence under oath, unless further disclosure of the information is prohibited by law.
Corrupt conduct	As defined in section 15 of the CC Act. Under the Act, there are two different types of corrupt conduct. "Type A" corrupt conduct involves conduct that affects, or could affect, a public officer (an employee of a public sector agency such as the QPT) so that the performance of their functions or the exercise of their powers: • is not honest or impartial, or • knowingly or recklessly breaches public trust, or • involves the misuse of agency-related information or material. Common examples of Type A corrupt conduct include fraud and theft, extortion, unauthorised release of information, obtaining or offering a secret commission and nepotism. "Type B" corrupt conduct involves specific types of conduct that impair, or could impair, public confidence in public administration. This may include:

Public Interest Disclosure Policy and Procedure

Term	Definition
	• collusive tendering, or • fraud relating to an application for a licence, permit or other authority relating to public health or safety; the environment; or the State's natural, cultural, mining or energy resources, or • dishonestly obtaining public funds or State assets, or • evading a State tax, levy or duty or fraudulently causing a loss of State revenue, or • fraudulently obtaining or retaining an appointment. Both Type A and Type B corrupt conduct must be either a criminal offence or serious enough to warrant dismissal. See the Reporting Corrupt Conduct Policy for more information, including how to determine if conduct is corrupt.
Detriment	Includes – a) personal injury or prejudice to safety; and b) property damage or loss; and c) intimidation or harassment; and d) adverse discrimination, disadvantage or adverse treatment about career, profession, employment, trade or business; and e) financial loss; and damage to reputation, including, for example, personal, professional or business reputation.
Disability	As defined in section 11 of the Disability Services Act 2006, for the purposes of this policy and procedure, a disability is a person's condition that— a) is attributable to— (i) an intellectual, psychiatric, cognitive, neurological, sensory or physical impairment; or (ii) a combination of impairments mentioned in subparagraph (i); and b) results in— (i) a substantial reduction of the person's capacity for communication, social interaction, learning, mobility or self-care or management; and (ii) the person needing support. • For subsection (1), the impairment may result from an acquired brain injury. The disability must be permanent or likely to be permanent. The disability may be, but need not be, of a chronic episodic nature.
Discloser	A person who makes a disclosure in accordance with the PID Act.

Public Interest Disclosure Policy and Procedure

Term	Definition
Employee	Persons currently employed as public sector employees (see sections 12 and 13) of the Public Sector Act 2022 (Qld) (PS Act), including general employees, fixed term temporary employees, casual employees, public service officers, senior officers, senior executive officers and the chief executive.
Investigation	For the purposes of this policy and procedure, investigation includes any enquiry undertaken to establish whether the information provided in a PID can be substantiated, including a review or audit.
Journalist	A person engaged in the occupation of writing or editing material intended for publication in the print or electronic news media.
Maladministration	As defined in schedule 4 of the PID Act, maladministration is administrative action that— a) was taken contrary to law; or b) was unreasonable, unjust, oppressive, or improperly discriminatory; or c) was in accordance with a rule of law or a provision of an Act or a practice that is or may be unreasonable, unjust, oppressive, or improperly discriminatory in the particular circumstances; or d) was taken— (i) for an improper purpose; or (ii) on irrelevant grounds; or (iii) having regard to irrelevant considerations; or e) was an action for which reasons should have been given, but were not given; or f) was based wholly or partly on a mistake of law or fact; or was wrong.
Natural justice	Natural justice (also referred to as ‘procedural fairness’) applies to any decision that can affect the rights, interests or expectations of individuals in a direct or immediate way. Natural justice is, at law, a safeguard applying to an individual whose rights or interests are being affected. The rules of natural justice, which have been developed to ensure that decision-making is fair and reasonable, are: • avoid bias; • give a fair hearing; and • act only on the basis of logically probative evidence.
Organisational support	For the purposes of this policy and procedure, organisational support means actions such as, but not limited to: • providing moral and emotional support;
